Nothard states: "The light is a metaphor for the Museum's setting in the Urban Center and hopes it becomes a dramatic landmark for Las Olas...The relationship between NOVA and the Museum is about bringing art and education into the public realm. Here we are intergrating art in a unique place, bringing it literally out to the street, making it something everyone can experience. It is literally for everyone. You don't have to pay. Anyone can come here and experience art."
